New Web Site Highlights Educational Programs in Maryland

(PORTLAND, ME) November 9, 2009— Walch Education, a leading developer and publisher of secondary educational materials, has launched www.walchmaryland.com. The new website focuses on Walch Education's programs and partnerships in the state of Maryland.

"I'm extremely excited to have this platform for our offerings," says Rorye Jordon, Walch Education's Regional Partnership Manager in Maryland. "It explains our unique value and gives us a single point to refer educators to. The site lists programs we have available in Maryland, districts we've partnered with, upcoming conferences – and, naturally, opportunities to purchase the materials."

Walch Education is partnering with many of Maryland's leading districts, including Baltimore City, Baltimore County, Frederick County, and Prince George's County. Available programs, each of which correlate to Maryland standards, include:

- Academic Support Program for High School Algebra I and Data Analysis
- Maryland Algebra/Data Analysis. Version 2.0
- Maryland Academic Support Program for English II HSA Mastery
- Maryland Academic Support Program for Biology HSA Recovery
